

Hazmat Training
June 19, 2018 - 9:00 AM - 3:00 PM
VFDA - 963 Paine Turnpike North - Berlin, VT
Instructor: Roy Roberts

Hazmat training is required by the U.S. Department of Transportation by anyone handling hazardous materials.

Obtaining CDL with a hazmat endorsement does not meet the minimum standard under the law.

Who Must Be Trained?

Anyone who involved in the storage or movement of hazardous materials.

This means anyone who:

- Operates a vehicle used to transport hazardous materials
- Loads, unloads, or handles hazardous materials
- Tests or repairs equipment used for the storage or transportation of hazardous materials.

The regulations require this training be provided to existing employees. New hires must complete training within 90 days.

This training will enable the student to recognize and identify hazardous materials consistent with hazardous communications standards. Each hazmat employee must receive function-specific training concerning requirements that are specifically applicable to the functions performed by the employee. Each hazmat employee must receive safety training concerning emergency response information; measures to protect the employee from the dangers associated with hazardous materials, including steps that the employer has implemented to safeguard his or her employees from the exposure; and methods and procedures for avoiding accidents, such as the proper procedures for handling product.

Topic covered:

- Shipping Papers (HM-181)
- Hazardous Substances
- Emergency Response
- Placarding
- Hazardous Materials Table
- Bulk Transportation
- Record-keeping
- Documentation
- Training Certificate
- Testing Certification
- Recurrent Training
- Non-Driving Responsibilities
- OSHA HASCOM standards
- Safety Data Sheets
- Hazmat Security Plan
- Oil Spill Prevention Plan

VFDA reserves the right to cancel any and all seminars for lack of registrations.

All students completing requirements of this seminar will receive a certificate.

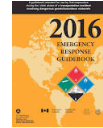

Lunch is included. Registrations are processed on a first come, first serve basis.
